I create a project onto SQL excel. I am making a project with the help of SQL. The project based on basic level to medium level. So whatever skills whatever formulas i use on a day-to-day task. I was doing a data analysis onto the Indian Census data. This was a very interesting task so I wanted to make the project on a certain topic which is quite relatable to my interest. This project help me to learn a lot of many different concept which is present in microsoft sql. I done a data analysis on the Indian Census from 2011. Census is, every country government they do the census in certain frequent interval of a time where they will be collecting data regarding the country's information regarding the numbers of male, numbers of female, the literacy rate, the gender ration and other kind of data point. I was collecting the data for 2011 from two websites, one website is : <https://www.census2011.co.in/district.php> the second one is : <https://www.census2011.co.in/literacy.php> . The both have different kind of data for the indian census 2011. I was using this data to do multiple kinds of data analysis using different SQL functions.
